

PSYCHOLOGICAL TESTING INFO & OPTIONS

Quick Tips:

1. Your health insurance may not pay for psychological testing, or may only pay for a portion of it, so please check with your health plan about specific coverage. Some health insurance companies may require a prior authorization before testing will be covered. Always contact your insurance for more information before scheduling.
2. Testing can be expensive, expect minimum $100 co pay (with UHC-SR), often considerably more. You will be expected to pay your portion at the time of your appointment(s).
3. If testing is for accommodations through PSU's Student Disability Resources (SDR), notify the psychologist you are seeing FIRST, as there are specific steps and information required by SDR. Refer to "Documentation Guidelines" on SDR's website: <http://equity.psu.edu/student-disability-resources/applying-for-services/documentation-guidelines>
